HISTORY

Devin Ross is the ideal person to lead the Jericho squad. Yet a few years ago he would have dismissed the very idea. Ross is an army career man, who rose through the ranks of the Army Rangers, serving several tours of duty in Afghanistan and Iraq. In combat he earned the respect of his men, peers and commanders and was decorated extensively for bravery and leadership in the field. As a soldier, Ross believed in the three Ps - preparation, preparation, and preparation - leaving nothing to chance whenever possible. He banned those under his command from carrying good luck charms, believing them to be superstitious nonsense. Paranormal and psychic phenomenon, were in his words, "a pile of bullshit." A model soldier, it was predicted that he would go on to even greater accomplishments. He has, but not in the way he would have once expected.

RECRUITMENT

Ross's recruitment into the DOW was rapid. A soldier of immense experience, character and integrity, the moment he displayed arcane abilities, the DOW's recruiters acted without hesitation. For Ross, the realisation of his abilities surfaced under fire during a botched raid on a Taliban safe house, as those who fell around him were healed. Relating the events in his field report, officials seized upon the opportunity to bring him in after persuading Ross his potential meant he could better serve his country in the DOW. He has proved an exceptional leader of men whose ability to heal makes the squad an unstoppable force. He maintains some scepticism towards his and his colleagues' powers but as leader he uses any tools at his disposal to get the job done, whether he fully understands them or not.

OCCULT RESOURCES

Ross is an ideal squad leader, with a highly tuned intuition that means he can almost experience what others are feeling; when they are in need of backup, he instinctively knows where to go. Having undergone extensive training by the DOW Ross has mastered the art of healing; he can even cure a team mate's wounds without physically imposing his hands, as long as he keeps visual contact. However, he is unable to heal himself.

COMBAT RESOURCES

Ross uses standard army weaponry, with which he is expert, having undergone extensive training and considerable combat experience. He carries a 5.56 calibre G36C assault rifle with an XM-26 semi-automatic mounted shotgun.
